Subject matter:
Proposing an European legislative framework aimed at phasing out animal experiments

Main objectives:
Considering clear ethical objections to animal experiments and solid scientific principles that invalidate the "animal model" for predicting human response, we urge the European Commission to abrogate directive 2010/63/EU on the protection of animals used for scientific purposes and to present a new proposal that does away with animal experimentation and instead makes compulsory the use - in biomedical and toxicological research - of data directly relevant for the human species

Unconditional Basic Income (UBI)
Exploring a pathway towards emancipatory welfare conditions in the EU

>>> <http://sign.basicincome2013.eu> <<<

Asking the Commission, to encourage cooperation between the Member States (according to Art 156 TFEU) aiming to explore the Unconditional Basic Income (UBI) as a tool to improve their respective social security systems.

WHAT IS BASIC INCOME?

The emancipatory Unconditional Basic Income is defined by the following four criteria:

universal, individual, unconditional, high enough to ensure an existence in dignity and participation in society.

An Unconditional Basic Income (UBI) or Citizen's Income is a guaranteed income, given to all in addition to any other income they might receive. By advancing equality and economic participation while enabling simpler welfare systems, UBI leads to a fairer and more efficient society.

Basic Income should be universal, individual, unconditional and high enough to ensure a dignified existence and participation in society.

This new fundamental right for humanity, not only would eradicate misery, it is also a way to develop non-market oriented work: such as artists, parents and volunteers...

Obstacles when collecting signatures

- Many people did not know about Universal Basic Income idea
- Many people do not know about European Citizens Initiative (“What is the difference between ECI and other on-line petitions I sign every day?”)
- Distrust in Online Collection System (personal data, digital privacy)
- Doubtful whether signatures will have an impact (distrust in EU institutions, ECI will not collect enough signatures, long running procedure,...)
- Also: people not having time to sign up, not having personal ID etc.

Success factors for ECI

- Proposed ECI subject-matter is “hot” topic (an important public or political issue at the EU and national level)
- Pan-European dimension
- In line with values/expectations of EU citizens
- Media attention/coverage (national level)
- Excellent organization of citizens' committee at the EU and national level (manpower, finance, internet etc.)
- Efficient collection in big MS (Germany, Spain, Poland etc.)
- ECI subject-matter awareness-rising (e.g. celebrities support)
- Willingness of citizens to sign on-line (e-participation)

- 4 feedbacks from appropriate government ministries

Lessons

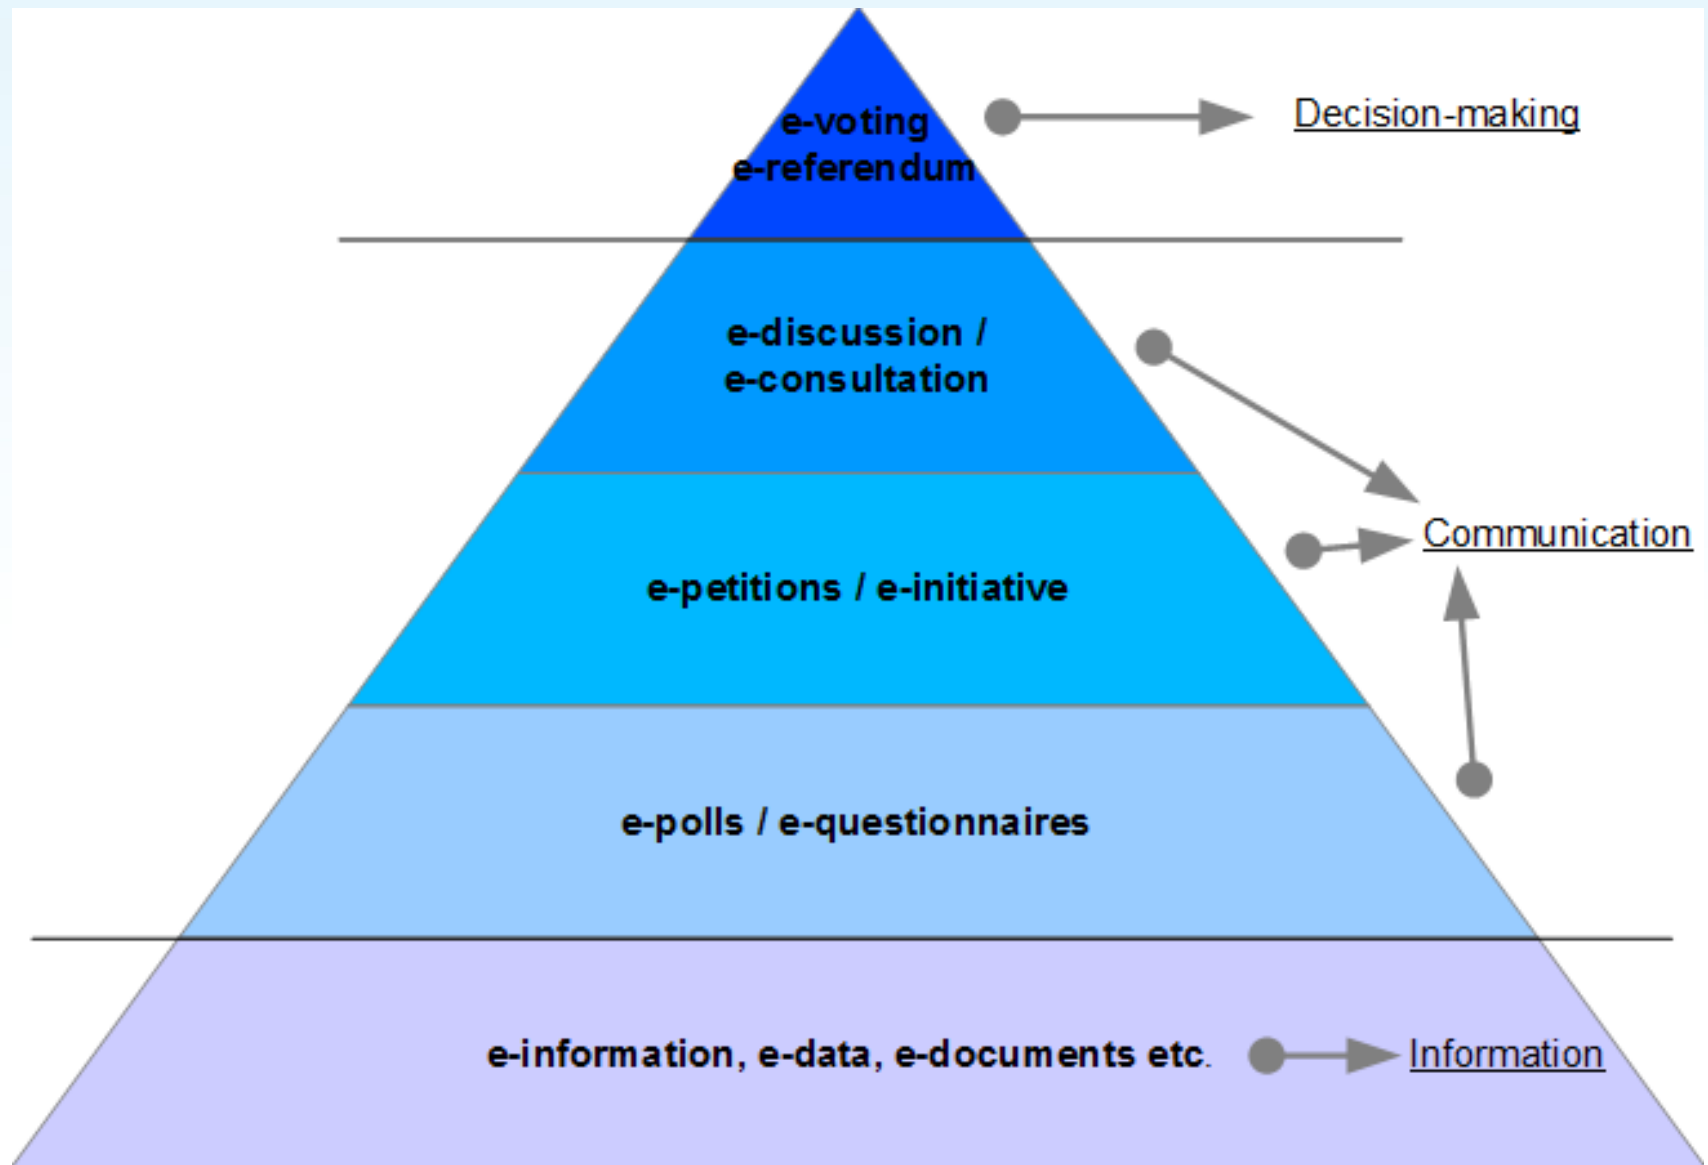

- The 1st pilot case of e-participation involving Slovene citizens in shaping EU policy positions of the Foreign Ministry (until recently, foreign policy was regarded as a “high politics”)
- Government feedback is very important in order to establish public trust & interest in the process (issues with political instability and low resources)
- On-line tools are more effective if there is already established practice of good governance
- Non-governmental organisations, media and opinion leaders play a crucial role in bringing citizens in the process both off-line and on-line (multi-channel approach)

Issues with e-participation

- often there is no clear statement how citizens contributions will influence policies
- technocratic procedures and topics
- failing to achieve a 'critical mass' of participation
- lack of rigorous evaluation and cost-benefit analysis
- e-participation is not so much about technology - political and social context matters

How to address the issue of distrust?

In your opinion, among the following actions, which are those that would encourage citizens in your country to be more active in democratic life of the European union?(N=108)

- stronger non-governmental organisations at the local and/or national level that are advocating for citizens/public interest in the EU;
- accountable, cost-efficient and more transparent operation of the EU institutions;
- strengthening active citizens skills through primary and secondary school education;
- transparent and verifiable procedures of appointing holders of political and public functions within EU institutions;
- better media reporting on EU topics (more information about citizens views and concerns).
